7. Methodology and Data Sources

The data presented in this directory was collected through a multi-source verification process:

Google Maps Business Profiles. The primary data source. Each listing was identified using targeted search queries for Masonic lodge, Masonic temple, and Freemasonry-related keywords across all U.S. zip codes and metropolitan areas. Address, phone, website, rating, and review count were extracted from active business profiles.

Grand Lodge Registries. Where available, state Grand Lodge directories were cross-referenced to verify lodge names, numbers, and jurisdictional affiliations. Not all Grand Lodges publish public registries.

Direct Verification. Lodges flagged with data inconsistencies (duplicate names, missing addresses, inactive status) were individually verified through phone calls, website checks, or Grand Lodge confirmation.

Rating Data. All ratings and review counts reflect Google Maps community reviews as of March 2026. These are public, user-submitted ratings and are not curated or modified by the publisher.

Exclusions. This directory covers only lodges within the United States, including the District of Columbia. Prince Hall affiliations, co-Masonic bodies, and appendant bodies (Scottish Rite, York Rite, Shrine) are included where they maintain distinct Google Maps business profiles.

8. About This Publication

This directory is published by GVSoftware and maintained as part of the LodgeFinder project, a free online directory of U.S. Masonic lodges. The searchable, interactive version of this directory is available at gvsoftware.com, where users can browse lodges by state and city, view Google Maps ratings and driving directions, and access contact information for individual lodges.

LodgeFinder was built to address a practical gap: while individual Grand Lodges maintain their own directories, there has been no single, unified resource where all U.S. Masonic lodges can be searched and compared. Men interested in joining Freemasonry, traveling Masons looking for lodges to visit, and researchers studying the fraternity all benefit from consolidated, verified data.

The online directory at gvsoftware.com is updated regularly as new lodges are verified and existing data is refreshed. The PDF edition is published annually.
